Business Travel with no worries

Managing the travel plans of one individual can be difficult enough, but coordinating travel plans for whole teams of people can be complicated - especially when unforeseen and unexpected issues arise.

Glad to tell you that George has just landed 👍

Thanks to Sam for Travel Arrangers, travel management can be hassle-free.

What does Sam do?

seamless support

The app - available from the App Store and Google Play - will seamlessly support anyone responsible for travel itineraries, meeting bookings, appointment scheduling or the general well-being and safety of a CEO, entire department or any number of single employees from offices around the world.

Whether it is for one or 1000+ travellers, those working as a travel arranger, executive assistant, meeting scheduler or security manager, for example, can use the app to oversee where their travellers are or are meant to be - and then instantly help them when a problem occurs, often before they become aware of the issue themselves.

When a flight is suddenly delayed or cancelled Sam will automatically alert the traveller and tells the travel arranger and wider team too! By linking them to that traveller's itinerary through a download of the app on their own phone, they can reschedule that meeting before it even becomes a problem.

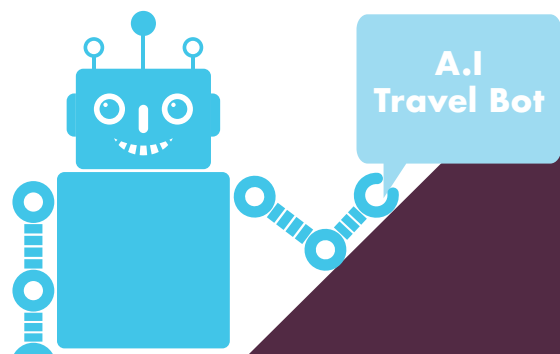

Max's flight has been delayed by 40 minutes!

Great, I'll reschedule his meeting so he doesn't miss it!

[Sam for Travel Arranger]

Sam for Travel Arrangers really does take care of everything from within the app. It can be used to:

Show each traveller's flight plans and automatically alert the travel manager to any substantial delays or cancellations

Allow anyone overseeing a traveller to check whether they have remembered to book a hotel room or car transfer if they had promised to do so

Send messages to each traveller and anyone who looks after them about important destination information as well as any changes or problems arising

Mark specific trips as personal so a traveller can use Sam's helpful features when on holiday but without any oversight or assistance from their company

[Confidence for travellers]

Travel Arrangers can use Sam to send updated documents and information straight to their traveller's version of the app meaning everything could be solved before the traveller has time to realise there was a problem.

Thanks to Sam for Travel Arrangers, those travelling on business can be safe in the knowledge that their trip will be simple and hassle-free because somebody they trust from their own wider team will always be on hand to hear about a problem and take care of it should one occur.
